You can find all the details in What to What Waire What Weac. AA and AAA batteries are much more efficient and reliable than you can remember since past years. If you are making the transition to ReloAble, or you already have, you will need a charger to keep them powered. We spent 7 hours looking for and 20 hours testing the charger AA and AAA, discovering that the BQ-CC55 Panasonic is the best for most people. It is compact, it has a folding ca spine, loads up to four batteries at a time and has lights to tell you when each battery is dead, on the road or completely charged. This is the charger we buy. It has a folding thorn, then it is flush on the wall socket, the notification lights on each battery slot and the possibility of loading up to four batteries at a time.*At the time of publishing, the price was $ 24. The Panasonic BQ-CC55 died simple to use: get the batteries any brand of AA or AAA rechargeable batteries-and open the plug, attach the charger in your wall socket and wait for the state lights to indicate that Each battery is completely charged. An automatic Shutoff function automatically detects the battery charge level to cut the power after recharging. But rather than a CA plug, the EBL has USB input ports on the side that allow you to charge AA or AAA batteries using any connector combination (a USB-C or micro-USB cable) and power source (a laptop, wall charger or Power Bank) choose. So, if you already have a USB wall charger at a point where you want to charge the batteries - from a bedside table or desk, for example, you can connect the EBL to that instead of taking an entire outlet, is the charger we bought. It has a foldable plug, so it is wired on the wall socket, the notification lights on each battery slot and the ability to charge up to four batteries at a time. * At the time of publishing, the price was $24. This charger is powered by USB-C or Micro-USB, offering two convenient ways to charge batteries from a USB charger you already have. As a writer of this guide, I spent 7 hours searching and 20 hours testing AA chargers. I was a scientific writer for more than eight years, covering a wide range of topics from particle physics to satellite remote sensing. Since I joined WireCutter in 2017, I reported on AA and AAA rechargeable batteries, power banks for phones and tablets and more. As we explain in our guide to the best AA and AAA rechargeable batteries, the technology has greatly improved in recent years and many rechargeable batteries (including our choices) can hold even longer than their disposable alkaline brothers. They are also accessible.Some uses - and better for the environment. Many electronic devices can be powered by AA and AAA rechargeable batteries à € "existing cameras, torches, wireless mice, LED lanterns, vibrators, pepper electric mills and more à €" and investing in a good charger helps to ensure that the necessary batteries are loaded and ready to go when you need it. Frankly, we have hardly pressed to think of a reason why we continue to buy disposable batteries. If you use any type of AA-OA-OPERATO device with a certain regularity, it is recommended to invest in a series of rechargeable batteries "ideally, more than what is actually necessary, so that you can maintain some savings of Reload while the others are in use "and a good rechargeable charger. Photo: Sarah Kobos have checked the main retailers such as target, home depot and Amazon to find the most well-known and widely available rechargeable charger producers. From there, we built a list of contenders based on the following characteristics: Nimb compatibility (Nickel Metal Hydride); we made sure that the charger was compatible with Nimb batteries, which have the most recent technology and are the most common AA batteries - Nicd (Nickel Cadmium), lithium, lead and rechargeable zinc batteries are much less common. AA and AAA compatibility: we have considered only the chargers who can load both AA and AAA batteries, because both are both common types of rechargeable batteries. Load between four and eight batteries at a time: we have considered only the chargers who can load 1-4 or 1 "8 batteries at a time. Most of the AA and AAA batteries are sold in multiples of four, and most devices do not require more than two at a time, so we think that a four -lot charger makes sense for the most part People. The chargers for more than four batteries are generally much larger and more expensive, but they could make sense to people using a lot of batteries at the same time. . Individual upload: We excluded the chargers. Chargers.Simply charge the batteries in pairs, rather than in single batteries or odd numbers. Automatic closure: We ensured that the charger had a mechanism to automatically cut the power after the batteries are charged, and when no batteries are inserted. (You still have to remove the batteries from the charger within a day of their charge, however.) Information interface: We requested that each model have some type of indicator (both a display screen or lights) to report when the batteries were charged and fully charged. Good reputation: We considered whether we had heard of society or tested its products in the past. We also used the company's website, read user reviews and ratings, and (if applicable) ran the Amazon list through Fakespot to confirm it was a reliable seller. This helps us to assess whether the company produces high-quality products, if it will be able to keep items in stock, and if it has a dedicated customer support team. Price less than $50: We have excluded any model that costs more than $50 because we know from past research and testing that you can get a good charger for much less. This left us with a list of 12 test models: In our test, we used a Powerex Maha Advanced Battery Charger to download two fully charged AA batteries, measuring capacity (mAh) and time spent. Photo: Sarah Kobos To test the chargers, we rounded up 24 new rechargeable AA batteries of mint, in particular, Energizer Recharge Universal batteries. We have assigned two batteries to each charger and labeled them with the wash tape so that we can distinguish them later. We have inserted all 12 chargers in the wall sockets and tested the performance of olos olos onossop illedom )ihcvec etnemlaiceps( nucla @Àhciop ,atlov alla airettab alognis anu eraicrac avetop eirettabacirac ingo ehc eramrefnoc omaveloV ,eracirac otaicinmoc ah es eredev id otatpessa omaibba e eirettabacirac ingo ni airettab alognis anu otiresni omaibba ,ecilpmes otats À tset otseuQ ,elaudividni otmemacirac :iuc art ,evahic eera enucla ni olledom batteries in pairs. ABILITY: After fully loading every pair of batteries in the corresponding chargers, we blocked them in a Powerex Maha Advanced Battery Charger. We set them to download at a rate of 1,000 bot per hour until they died and then recorded the past time and the ability (mah) measured by the advanced charger like the batteries went completely charged to completely dead. Extra features: we considered all additional functionalities, such as a USB port or a display screen, and we noticed if they made the most easy to use charger. Look and hear: ideally, we think that a rechargeable charger should be compact and not intrusive because they are commonly used in high traffic areas such as your living room, office or bedroom. They should also be simple and intuitive to use. We took these factors into consideration as we tested and spent a lot of quality time with all 12 chargers. Our choice: Panasonic BQ-CC55 photos: Sarah Kobos This is the charger we would have bought. It has a folding thorn so that she sits on the wall on the wall, the notification lights on each battery slot, and the ability to load up to four batteries at a time.* At the time of publication, the price was $ 24. The Panasonic BQ-CC55 embodies everything that we were looking for in a rechargeable charger. It is easy to use, it has an auto-shutoff function, and batteries completely loaded into our capacity test. It is compact (about the size of an iPhone X, and about a thick thick) and loads one to four batteries at a time. Panasonic is a trusted brand and makes our first top choice, the BQ-CC17, too. Above all, we like that the BQ-CC55 has a folding thorn so that it sits right on walls how it is loaded, and its notification lights correspond to the individual battery slot. Panasonic is stupid simple to use: just insert up to four AA or AAA rechargeable batteries and let them recharge for an hour or already of the à € "It took about 1 hour and a half to load two AA batteries non am emmaif ,otrefrep eirettabacirac ortson li Àaip eirettab id erolav 03S acric odnedenot ats is ,otthecap led ozzerp li rep ÀAscC ,omueaic 05,2S acric onatsoc ereneg ni ehc ,lilbaciracir eirettab adug artson allen erouligm atlees anu( spoolenE cinosanaP onos eirettab eL ,AAA eirettab ies e AA eirettab ies ,55CC-QB eirettabacirac nu noc otinorf eneIV ,eraffa nouh nu À )A665BM55JK-K( kcaP rewoP cinosanaP li ehc omaisnep Jerinrofir id odnattegor onnats e( lilbaciracir eirettab id Àig onpsid is non es ,avattut :olos ad 55CC-QB li eratsiuqca elibissop À ,ebbevod emoc anoinzuf eirettabacirac li ehc eramrefnoc e eredev id omavattepsa ic e omavareps ehc ÀÀic À otseuQ ,otatset omaibba ehc irtla ilga ilimis lbmartne ,hAm 589,1 e hAm 000.2 id atarusim Àticapac anu aveva cinosanaP len otacirac omaibba ehc eirettab id aip poc aL ,erffo tottorretni essorC aL id illedom i etrap a( otatset omaibba ehc illedom irtla ilged onussen , À enoinzuf atseuq emoc elitu emoc E ,osu'1 rep otornp À onu odnauq elaeor opmet ni erirpocs retop ad odom ni ,acirac etnemlaizrap airettab anu e atrom etnematelpmoc airettab anu ,omaicid ,odnacirac ats is odnauq elitu etnemlibidercni À otseuQ ,ero emissorp el arpos )otacirac etnematelpmoc odnauq( edrev e )otacirac etnemlaizrap odnauq( ollaig arig iop e tols alleuq arpos animulli assor ecul id keirpniip nu ,atrom airettab anu ecsiresni is odnauQ ,airettab alled tols el arpos aigiry acisirts elitots anu emoc onoiappa aciflton id icul el ,55CC-QB len atiresni À airettab anussen odnauQ ,ehcnaib iterap eteva es ottuttarpos ,eneb aznatsabba ednof is osse ni otagelloc odnauQ ,eterap alled aserp allen eraccata e erageip ad elicaf À anips aL ,atsilaminim e ortuen ngised nu ah 55CC-QB li ,jonroig nu id Àaip rep eirettabacirac out len eirettab el erazziromem iam itservod non ,avitulumuc innad erative rep ,es ehcnat ociraccarvos id itrapuccoerp ived non iftotuhs-otua id enolozuf anu ah 55CC-QB li ©Àhciop tset nu nu id Àaip À enoisnemid al ovac nu ah non ©Àhrep e ,ossorg 'op nu arochn À am otatset omaibba ehc ecilpmes Àaip olledom li À 55CC-QB li ; It has an information screen and a good range of currents (500-2800 mA) for efficient charging. It is quite easy to use, but it is more difficult pop batteries correctly in the slots compared to most chargers, and if not align them just to the right, it does not load. The EBL C9010N is small and compact, and loads up to eight AA or AAA batteries at a time. It is easy to use, has indicator lights on each battery slot, and has a good range of currents (225-1800 ma) for efficient charging. However, loaded via a micro-USB port, and in our test it has not always had a solid connection "dominated by lights or flashing indicator" which could slow down the charging times. The Ikea Ladda (disclosed) was missing the folding plug and the individual notification lights that we reward in the Panasonic BQ-CC55. The Crosse BC700 and BC1000 technology are former refresher choices, offering more control over the charging process, but they were both interrupted. The Panasonic BQ-CC17 is a former top pick but it was better than the ability of BQ-CC55 to tell you when each battery is dead, on a load-off-road, and completely charged. It also takes a little more to load the batteries. The Panasonic BQ-CC75 is almost identical to the BQ-CC55, but with the same disadvantages as the BQ-CC17 (lowest to load the batteries, lower notification lights). It has a USB-A output port on the side, but loads the device very slowly (we need most of the ports to support 2.1-AMP charging, and this is evaluated for 1-AMP charging) so we don't think that it is a lot of an advantage. The 3-year guarantee of Powerex Maha Mh-C800S is more than that of one of our choices, but it costs more than the double the price of the EBL chargers at the time of this writing. He also has a worst interface, like his It does not show if the condition or the soft charging options are shot shot Powerex Maha MH-C801D and MH-C980 are approximately identical to the MH-C800S, and cost almost twice as much at the time of this writing. In addition, the first has a bulky power brick and the latter has a noisy cooling fan.
